

“Grab the card” – labels

for teacher

for students

Tea is a symbol of ...	... British culture.
Tea originates ...	... from Asia
The motherland of tea...	... is China.
Chinese used tea as ...	... a medicinal remedy.
Tea arrived in England ...	... around 1650.
Tea was extremely expensive ...	... due the long import journey.

At the beginning of the 1800s the British stopped ...	... importing tea leaves from China.
British discovered ...	... a spontaneous growth of tea in India.
India was ....	... an English colony.
In the early 20 th century Thomas Sullivan ...	... unintentionally created tea bags.
One tea bag contains ...	... 2-3 grams of tea leaves.
The journey of tea begins with ...	... the Camellia sinensis seeds.

Farmers re-plant the young bushes ...	... in large estates where the climate is hot and humid.
Farmers can pluck the tea leaves ...	... only after four years.
Nowadays, the global tea demand ...	... exceeds the supply